Their Royal Highnesses the Prince of Wales and Duchess of Cornwall joined in the St David's Day celebrations in the capital. The Royal couple attended a special St David's service at St John's Church hosted by the Lord Mayor of Cardiff, Councillor Derrick Morgan. The annual service was attended by representatives from organisations across Wales as well as the Leader of Cardiff Council, Councillor Heather Joyce. During the visit the Prince and the Duchess spoke with the crowds and the Duchess was handed a posy of flowers including daffodils - the national emblem of Wales.

Council sets the budget for 2013/14

CARDIFF Council has set its budget for the next financial year.

As promised Council Tax has been frozen at present levels, despite the need to find in excess of £22m worth of savings

The budget has been drafted to protect essential services in Cardiff, and while savings have been made across many departments, vital areas such as adults and children's services and education have seen big increases in spending.

Council Leader Councillor Heather Joyce said: "It is against a really tough financial backdrop that we have had to make some very hard choices about what we do as a Council to ensure that the people we need to protect, who are the most vulnerable in our city, and the services which make a difference to many people's lives such as education and social services continue to be delivered.

"We have had to put forward some difficult proposals but we have tried to make sure that we are doing everything we can to be fair and equitable across the board with the cuts."

Many of the venues that were feared would close under budget proposals are to remain open but the Council is now urging local communities to show there is real demand for them, with the message "use it or lose it."

Splott Pool will remain open until September, with the Council looking at creative ways to invest in a facility that has received next to no funding since 2004.

Flat Holm Island will remain open for the summer and Plasnewydd Community Hall will also remain open for a further six months while the authority explores alternative ways to run them.

Six lawn bowls clubs – Grange Gardens, Pentwyn, Howard Gardens, Llwynfedw Gardens, Maindy and Trelai – will also continue to receive council funding until the end of the season and Cardiff Riding School will also remain open while the Council seeks alternative ways for it to be run.

The budget also proposes that, with few exceptions, the organisations which receive grants from the Council will see cuts to their Council funding by a minimum of 10 per cent, five per cent less than is being asked of Council services.

Councillor Joyce added: "We appreciate that cutting grants for community groups is not easy but we are only asking them to shoulder the same, if not less, of the burden of these cuts as our own internal services."

A day in a life

The latest in a regular series looking at jobs carried out by council employees. This month Paula Doyle, Kitchen Manager at Hawthorn Primary School talks to Capital Times.

My day here at Hawthorn Primary School starts with the breakfast club which means I'm here at 7.15am each morning, beginning the preparation before we start serving at 8am. We have a good take-up of the free breakfast, up to about 80 children. The children can have a choice of cereals, fruit, yoghurts, toast, muffins and bagels, juice and milk.

From 9am my focus moves to preparing for lunch and I'm doing all sorts - preparing, weighing food and accepting deliveries. It's just myself and my colleague Margaret here in the kitchen getting lunches ready for around 90 children, so it's very busy.

The children here love their cooked dinners and pepperoni pasta is a favourite too. They also particularly like our banana brownies and lemon drizzle cake, which are all baked fresh here.

Some of the younger children are funny. When we've had broccoli on the menu, they've gone home and told their parents they've eaten trees for lunch and a few of them have said "I can't eat that, Miss, I'm allergic!" when there's something on the menu they don't like.

Healthy eating is very important for us and we always have fresh fruit and salad on the counter which the children will take. I do an awful lot of work with the school council, which has representatives from all year groups in the school, and I used to be involved in an after-school club as well to teach the kids to learn how to cook.

There's lots of variety in the job. We do parents' evenings where we show them the meals we serve to the children and we do a lot of themed days like St David's Day and Australia Day. Simon Weston has visited us for lunch and last year we had a whole school Diamond Jubilee street party.

After lunch, we've got all the clearing away and cleaning up in the kitchen to do and we're usually finished by around 2.15pm. It is hard work and some days, it can be very challenging.

I've had lots of different jobs and if you had told me years ago that I'd be a school cook, I wouldn't have believed it as I really didn't like being in school myself. But I've been doing this job for 20 years now, nine years here at Hawthorn Primary, and if I didn't like it, I would look for something else. This is a really lovely school. I like everything about my job and I love the kids.

Have your say in improving Council services

ARE there any Council services that you would like to see improved? Have you seen Council services delivered better in other parts of the UK? Is the Council performing well enough? If you have views or ideas on any of these questions, then Scrutiny wants to hear from you.

At the heart of local democracy in Cardiff are five Scrutiny committees through which local councillors represent your views and interests when the Council is planning or reviewing its services.

The Scrutiny committees will investigate issues of concern and provide recommendations to the Council's Cabinet on how to improve our performance, often after researching those issues in depth and seeing how Cardiff compares to other parts of the UK.

Here are some examples of work that Scrutiny committees have spent time on this year:

- How the Council can best manage the nuisance associated with dog faeces, chewing gum, fast food packaging and other forms of litter left around in Cardiff.
- How children from poorer parts of Cardiff can be supported to achieve high quality GCSE results.
- How Cardiff can plan its communities, housing and economic development to support job growth and successful neighbourhoods.
- How local service providers can best involve local residents in shaping public services in Cardiff.
- How the Council can minimise the unwelcome impacts of Welfare Reform.

Each spring the committees develop their annual work programme, and they want to know what you consider to be important areas for them to explore in 2013.

You can write, ring or e-mail us, and while Councillors may not have time to scrutinise every idea you provide, each one will be considered as a possible item for future scrutiny.

- You can contact Scrutiny by writing to Scrutiny Office, Room CY6, Cardiff County Hall, Atlantic Wharf, CARDIFF CFF10 4UW. Alternatively call 029 2087 2953 or e-mail scrutinyviewpoints @cardiff.gov.uk

2013/14 Budget - where your money goes

DESPITE the ongoing economic climate, Cardiff Council has managed to make huge savings while increasing budgets for key services.

Savings in excess of £22m have been made this year while extra funding has gone to key services such as education and social services.

Cabinet Member for Finance Business and Local Economy, Councillor Russell Goodway, said that setting this year's budget had been extremely challenging, with tough decisions having to be made, but ultimately this was a budget aimed at helping to reinvigorate the city's economy, at the same time as protecting frontline services as well as the support provided for the most vulnerable in our society.

"This is a budget which is about laying down the foundations for the future. We need to create a competitive capital for the people of Cardiff and Wales to help address concerns over employment and opportunities for everyone, and in particular young people," he said.

Education

- A £3.9m (+2 %) increase in schools' delegated budgets.
- An additional £1m has been set aside for increasing pupil numbers.
- Newly delegated services will include: behavioural support, educational psychology, and communication and sensory support. The - Council's total delegated expenditure on education has been increased from 81 % to 83 %.
- While a £151,000 subsidy from the council to fund the Music Service is ending, a combination of alternative funding arrangements and a price increase of 11 per cent means the overall resource to the music service – the music development fund and the provision of bursaries - will be broadly the same as before. Many parents will not face the full price increase because some schools do not pass on the cost of lessons to parents and others subsidise them. Children with bursaries will still not have to pay for lessons.

Environment

- The Council plans to save £650,000 by dealing with waste and litter collection more efficiently across the Council Services through integrated efficiencies for Cardiff Outdoors .
- A saving of £500,000 by buying and managing contracts more smartly
- Establishing a contingency fund of £350,000 to tackle the problem experienced uncertainty and fluctuation caused by the economic impacts of the recycled material markets.
- £92,000 saved by closing the Hayes toilets as a council run public convenience. The numbers using the toilets have fallen and they do not comply with the Disabilities Discrimination Act of 1995. However the administration is committed to producing a public convenience strategy for this city and will seek alternative uses for the toilets.
- A saving of £101,000 from bulky waste collections. Cardiff is being brought into line with neighbouring authorities by charging £15 for the collection of up to three items. However those who claim a form of income support will receive two free collections a year.

Adult Services

A real terms increase of £5m for Adult Services (+5 %, far exceeding the increase required by the Welsh Government

This additional funding includes:

- £1.2m to recognise contractual annual fee increases
- £1m to recognise the predicted growth in demand
- £590,000 to fund the pressures apparent this year in the service area.
- £378,000 of direct payments to enable personal assistants to be paid the Living Wage, and to enable people to access care agencies without top-ups
- £1.3m made available to offset the impact of change in the learning disabilities grant distribution across Wales
- £50, 000 to support the innovative work of the Fairer Deal for Social Services Stakeholder Group and Taskforce
- The creation of a contingency fund, built into the Council's base budget, to support staffing challenges across social care in Cardiff. This will allow the council to replace front line staff let go by the previous administration in the name of transformation.

Communities, Housing & Social Justice

- The council will be addressing the lack of join up between council services and ending the current system where every time someone applies for housing benefit, free school meals, student grants or income assessed adult services they have to produce their evidence four different times to four different teams.
- The improvements we are making to our own housing repair service will save around £1m and give us the opportunity to increase the number of apprenticeships we can deliver.
- The welfare reform changes brought in by central government are going to have a massive impact on the most vulnerable in our city and the Council has invested £481,000 in a Welfare Rights and Advice Service to meet those needs.

Culture, Leisure & Parks

- Capital allocation of nearly £470,000 to fund the community asset transfer of Insole Court therefore allowing grant funding in excess of £3m to be accessed.
- The council is replacing the roof at St David's Hall for £500,000 as part of its ongoing commitment to the national concert hall for Wales.
- Investing in the provision of leisure activities in the medium of Welsh.
- Fees and charges are being increased for adult pitch bookings – but council pitches are still cheaper to hire than the private alternative and provision for young people is free.

Children's Services

- An increase of £2.5m to children's services (+5.81 %, more than double than the Welsh Government requirement), as well as a reserve of £950,000 should it be required.
- This will mean: 20 extra staff, 4 more personal advisors for care leavers, 6 more social workers, 2 more principle social workers for the district team, 6 more business social staff so social workers can spend more time with children and families, 2 more looked after children's support workers.
- Grant cuts have been made to external organisations in the preventative sector but the alternative would be cutting social work staff which the administration is not prepared to do.

CHANGES TO COUNCIL TAX BILL INSERTS

Under new Welsh Government billing regulations changes will be made in relation to inserts issued with the Council Tax bills.
Previously all inserts, including the Capital News leaflet, which contains information in respect of capital and revenue expenditure on services, were required to be hard copy and were sent out with Council Tax bills.

However from this April the Council is able to publish this information on its website and only issue hard copies if requested. This will save the Council more than £6,000 on printing costs.

An explanation of how to access the Capital News leaflet will be published on the April Council tax bill. To view the Capital News online go to www.cardiff.gov.uk/CouncilTax

Biodiversity Corner

Biodiversity is all living things. It provides us with food, clothing, medicine, building materials and fuel. It helps reduce stress and aids relaxation. Each month Cardiff Council ecologist Laura Palmer will point out some of the great biodiversity you can see across the city.

APRIL

THIS May the Cardiff Walking Festival is a great opportunity to get out and about and see some wildlife. If you are wondering which walks are best I suggest the Roath Park and Nant Fawr Community Woodlands on Saturday, May 4 and the Bay Explorer Walk on Tuesday, May 7.

The Nantfawr woodlands include semi-natural ancient woodland, rough grasslands and the Nant Fawr stream. At this time of year you will see carpets of Bluebell and Wood anemone in the woodlands, and if you are lucky you will catch a glimpse of the beautiful but secretive Bullfinch.

If you join the Bay Explorer Walk you will have a birdwatching guide who can point out all of the interesting wildlife on the reserve.

Keep an eye out for Little egrets which are small white herons. While you are on the barrage keep a good look out on the rocks, you may see some waders there, particularly the striking Oystercatcher.

For more information on the Walking Festival see www.outdoorcardiff.com/cardiffwalkingfestival.

I'll be back next month with more biodiversity attractions.

Youth Pavilion opens in spectacular style

THE opening of the new Butetown Youth Pavilion saw children and young adults put on a spectacular show to mark the launch.

There was dancing, singing and even a little bit of cooking from the younger members of the community who were celebrating their new state of the art centre.

The new pavilion will give young people in the area a place to socialise and includes a dance studio, sports hall, music studio, health and beauty room as well as a social space/refreshment area and a crèche.

Many young people from the area showcased their talents during the launch, including dance group Shapez and singers Ellie Paris and Tamara Konten who performed musical sets for more than a hundred attendees including Cabinet Member for Sport, Culture and Leisure, Councillor Huw Thomas and Welsh Government Finance Minister Jane Hutt.

The scheme has been funded by Cardiff Council, the European Regional Development Fund, and the Welsh Government. Alongside the youth pavilion being built, a new community centre and improvements to Christina Street will also take place as part of the project.

During the launch children and young adults got the opportunity to try out the new facilities, with the pool table and sports hall being particular favourites.

Councillor Thomas said: "The new pavilion will be a hub for the local community to meet and socialise. I know young people, youth workers, community groups and residents have been very much involved in this scheme. This project is a superb example of organisations and residents working together to create a much needed community resource.

Finance Minister Jane Hutt added: "The Butetown Youth Pavilion makes a huge contribution to young people in the area, not just in terms of leisure but also in skills development and building confidence."

Council signs Armed Forces covenant

IN front of a packed crowd at the Cardiff City Stadium, Council Leader, Councillor Heather Joyce pledged the local authority's support to the city's Armed Forces community.

Councillor Joyce, alongside a number of leading organisations, signed the Armed Forces Community Covenant.

The covenant is the council's commitment to the Armed Forces community and acknowledges the support the council will provide to current service personnel and veterans.

Councillor Joyce, said: "Signing the covenant is an important milestone in the relationship between the city and the armed forces community. This is the city's pledge that we will do all we can to support service personnel past and present."

The Armed Forces Community Covenant brings together key organisations in Cardiff to ensure that Armed Forces service personnel and their families are offered the support they need.

Other organisations to sign the covenant included the Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, South Wales Police, South Wales Fire and Rescue Service, Cardiff Third Sector Council, the Probation Trust and Job Centre Plus.

During the special signing, Armed Forces personnel, both serving and veterans, attended the Cardiff City match against Derby and led both teams out onto the field,

Councillor Joyce, added: "Signing the covenant in front of thousands of football fans helps reinforce our message that it's important we bring issues relating to Armed Forces personnel to the heart of the community."

Cardiff Further Education Trust

THE Cardiff Further Education Trust is a registered charity which has been set up for the advancement of education and is designed to benefit pupils in Cardiff.

The objectives of the charity are: to provide financial and other assistance to pupils who, for at least two years, have attended a secondary school in Cardiff; to provide maintenance allowances to allow pupils who are in need of financial assistance to finish a course at a secondary school in Cardiff and to provide grants to students in Cardiff to enable them to travel or to attend special courses in connection with their education.

Support has previously been given to assist with finances for students attending courses of further education by means of Cardiff Council's Passport to Study Grant. Funds are available for the Passport to Study Grant for students meeting the following criteria:

- Over 16 years of age
- Attended a Cardiff Secondary School
- Attending a Further Education course
- Resident in the area of Cardiff

In order that applications are kept within the amount of income available annually from the Trust Fund, the Passport to Travel Grant is only given to those students in receipt of certain allowances.

Awards are made at the discretion of the Trustees.

To request an application form, please write to Clare Anthony, Education Service, Room 309, County Hall, Cardiff, CF10 4UW or email CAnthony@cardiff.gov.uk

Application forms must be returned by Friday, May 10th 2013.

Volvo Ocean Race set for Cardiff

CARDIFF is set to be put on the sailing map with the announcement that the city is to host a stopover in the prestigious 2017/18 Volvo Ocean Race.

Wales' capital city beat off competition from across the globe to play a part in the prestigious round-the-world sailing race, which was formerly the Whitbread Round the World Race.

Cardiff Council Leader, Councillor Heather Joyce said she was delighted that Cardiff, which has such a strong affinity with the sea, had won this honour.

"Our city has been built on its maritime heritage, but we have also seen more recently the big impact sporting events can have on our economy. And it is only fitting therefore, that something which celebrates both comes to Cardiff," she said.

In securing the successful bid the Council worked with the Welsh Government, Associated British Ports and the Cardiff Harbour Authority.

Councillor Joyce added: "Our city has proved that we can put on a show. We've hosted some of the world's biggest sporting events. When the Volvo Ocean Race comes to our city you can be sure that everyone will get the same welcome and the same support from the people of Cardiff and Wales."

Volvo Chief Operating Officer, Tom Touber, who made the announcement, said: "It is fantastic to be able to announce that the race will once again stop in UK waters, and a first visit to Cardiff is a very exciting move.

"The competition to host the Volvo Ocean Race has never been so fierce, with over 80 ports involved in the process for the 12th and 13th editions. Cardiff made a particularly impressive bid to win one of the converted European slots and with such outstanding facilities and great enthusiasm I'm convinced we will have a stopover to remember."

Cardiff is becoming globally recognised for being able to deliver top sporting events and played host to another world class sailing tournament Extreme Sailing last summer.

Birthday celebrations at the Cardiff Story

THE Cardiff Story is celebrating its birthday. Two years have now passed since the city centre museum first opened its doors to the public and during that time, visitors from all over the world, the UK, and of course Cardiff have visited to discover the history of Wales' capital city.

"The Cardiff Story is a museum about and for the people of Cardiff and we're really pleased with how many Cardiffians have visited – we have over 300,000 visitors a year," explained Museum Officer Victoria Rogers. "But we do know that lots of locals haven't been to see us yet. So if we've been on your 'list of things to do', make this the year to visit."

The Cardiff Story is a family friendly museum where you can discover how Cardiff transformed from a small market town in the 1300s, to one of the worlds largest ports in the 1900s and then into the cool cosmopolitan capital we know today. The museum is full of stories, hands on activities, photographs, films and objects that tells the history of the city through the voices and experiences of the people who have lived and worked here.

"We know that people are surprised by their visits here – that there's so much to do, no matter what your age or interest. And we've got lots of events, exhibitions and activities going on throughout the year – so it's always worth keeping an eye on our website, or signing up for our email newsletters so you can be the first to find out what's going on."

The Cardiff Story first opened to the public in April 2011, but during the last two years, it has kept changing and involving people in its development – by visiting, volunteering or helping to add to the museum's collection and research.

"At the moment we're researching for our next exhibition which will be about leisure in Cardiff," added Victoria. "If any readers have objects related to how they spent – or spend - their leisure time we'd love to hear from them.

"It's worth remembering though that although most people think of history they think of the distant past, we're really interested in hearing about how people spent their spare time in the 1970s, 80s and 90s, and how they spend it today, as well."

• See what's going on at the Cardiff Story on our website www.cardiffstory.com, sign up for the e-newsletter by contacting cardiffstory @cardiff.gov.uk, or follow us on facebook www.facebook.com/cardiffstory and twitter @thecardiffstory

News in brief

Why do I need ultrafast broadband?

HUGE investment is currently taking place into fibre optic cable installations which are key to building Cardiff's world-class telecommunications network now and in the future.

Fibre for SuperFast and UltraFast Broadband can deliver large amounts of data further and faster than the copper cables that traditionally deliver telecommunications services.

SuperFast is currently rolling out in Cardiff with download speeds of up to 80Mbps.

UltraFast which is currently being trialled in Cardiff and expected to be rolled out later this year, has download speeds of between 100Mbps and 300Mbps.

A fibre to the premises (FTTP) network means it will be possible to deliver the highest data speeds and will give customers access to some of the highest available broadband speeds in Europe.

A high speed service will boost the competitiveness of local firms as they will enjoy the benefits of a "big business fibre capability", with better two-way speeds allowing collaboration across locations between customers and suppliers; and support new ways of flexible working, entertainment and learning opportunities for local residents.

Fibre broadband gives businesses:

- the capacity to run multiple bandwidth-hungry applications at the same time such as sending and receiving large amounts of data much more quickly and efficiently,
- access to a more flexible way of working.

It helps residents:

- access school homework networks,
- watch catch-up TV,
- learn at home via educational websites,
- carry out telecare services for the elderly or people with greater mobility needs,

Websites such as broadbandchoices.co.uk or broadbanduswitch.com can give more information on what is currently available to you in your area, also further information can be sought from your current Internet Service Providers (ISPs).

Look out for more information on this and the Super Connected Cardiff project in the next edition of Capital Times, or go to DigitalCardiff.net/SuperConnected.

Tremorfa pupils learn how to be green

PUPILS from St Alban's Primary School in Tremorfa have harnessed pedal power to produce healthy treats for their schoolmates.

As part of the school's Green Eco Week, the children took part in a raft of activities to learn about energy awareness, healthy lifestyles, recycling and sustainability, including a green fashion show, a big electricity turn off and a danceathon.

The fun-packed week kicked off with various eco challenges being set for the pupils to complete over the week. Classes competed to earn points in various challenges to be crowned the 'Greenest Class of the Week'.

The challenges included completing a classroom waste audit, writing an eco diary and top tips for the school's ECO Mail Newsletter for local residents and parents, eating a healthy snack, walking or cycling to school, learning a special eco code rap and 'the big turn off' when all computers and projectors in the school were switched off to save energy.

Visitors to the school during the week included a dentist, the Council's Really Rubbish team who organised a range of workshops and officers from Bike It - Sustrans' school cycling project which aims to encourage children to cycle - who showed children how to maintain their bikes.

The children who rode their bikes to school were rewarded with a fruit smoothie which was produced using a blending machine powered by energy produced by their schoolmates riding a bike.

The week concluded with a Friday afternoon green extravaganza assembly including the fashion show featuring teachers modelling 'clothes' made from unwanted CDs, newspapers, bottle tops and much more. Caddy Man, the council's waste mascot, was a special visitor at the assembly presenting 'World Saving Superheroes' awards to the children.

'Eco expert' for the week and St Alban's teacher, Kirsty Harris, said: "We organised the week to introduce a range of new initiatives to raise awareness of recycling, food waste, saving water and electricity.

"I think it's fundamental to get all these messages across at a young age and I think doing it through a creative and imaginative way as well makes it more fun for everyone."

Devil of a partnership

THE Cardiff Devils ice hockey team are the latest to sign up as a key partner for Cardiff Council's Olympic/Paralympic legacy programme, The Road to Rio.

The team's endorsement of the project was announced at their recent match against the Coventry Blaze.

The partnership has received backing from the Devils' managing director Brent Pope, who believes that ice hockey can offer youngsters a fun and stimulating sporting passion.

He said: "London 2012 helped to inspire a generation of young people to choose sport as a key ingredient of a balanced lifestyle. Whether as participants or spectators, engaging with local sport helps to provide healthy options and a strong sense of community well-being. We are extremely proud of our partnership with Active Cardiff's Road to Rio Legacy programme and look forward to raising continued sporting aspiration."

Welsh athlete Rhys Williams attended the event as the face of the project which aims to inspire and engage young people through physical activity. He took part in a ceremonial puck drop with Devils' captain Stuart Macrae.

• (L to R) Road to Rio children: Ben Edwards, 8, Alfie Keogh, 10, Lola Keogh, 7, Anna Johns, 4, Jake Edwards, 10, Sam Hennessy, 7, Kate Hennessy, 10, Daniel Uddin, 11, and Ryhan Uddin, 13.

Road to Rio participants were very excited as they donned special t-shirts and took to the ice at the end of the game to have their photograph taken with the Devils.

The Road to Rio is a Cardiff Council initiative which will introduce young people to an active and healthier lifestyle through sports, food, nutrition and cultural activities.

Roadshows begin

A series of roadshows are taking place across the city as part of the Paralympic Legacy Programme.

Sport.Cardiff are running the pilot project, which will see events taking part at ten schools across Cardiff, providing sporting opportunities for over 300 disabled and non-disabled children to take part in together.

Schools can select up to four sports for pupils to try including sitting volleyball, boccia, goalball and wheelchair basketball.

Coaches have received Disability Inclusion Training through Disability Sport Wales, to support them in delivering the range of sports on offer.

Corpus Christi were the first school to take part in the project which saw Cardiff's very own Paralympian Jordan Howe attend the event to meet the children and take part in a question and answer session about his experience as an athlete.

The remaining roadshows will take place this month on Friday, April 12 at Fitzalan High School and Friday, April 19 at Bishop of Llandaff High.

• For more information about getting involved in disability sport as a participant or volunteer, please visit sport-cardiff.com or email sport.cardiff@cardiff.gov.uk or call 029 2087 3935.

Public Notices

The Council has traditionally protected the area adjacent to school entrances with 'School Keep Clear' and the associated zig-zag road markings. These are supported by Rule 243 of the Highway Code which states 'Do Not stop or park near a school entrance'. However these markings are seen as supportive of the nationally recognised offence of causing unnecessary obstruction, and enforcement by the Police.

Investigations and surveys have identified that parking on the markings is a widespread problem. In all cases there is evidence of obstruction of pedestrians crossing the road and their sight lines. The Council is responsible for enforcing parking restrictions under powers provided by the Traffic Management Act 2004.

It is proposed to introduce traffic regulation orders indicating 'No Stopping' to be applied to the length of the 'School Keep Clear' and associated zig-zag markings. This is in order to prohibit the widespread indiscriminate and dangerous parking or stopping at these locations during the school day. Rule 238 of the Highway Code is clear and unambiguous in this case.

Therefore the Council proposes to introduce the following restrictions:

NEW TRAFFIC PROPOSAL FOR THE CITY AND COUNTY OF CARDIFF

The County Council of the City and County of Cardiff in exercise of its powers under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 (as amended), Part 6 of the Traffic Management Act 2004 as amended and The Civil Enforcement of Parking Contraventions (City and County of Cardiff) Designation Order 2010, and of all other enabling powers proposes to make Orders the general effects of which is to impose traffic restrictions in the lengths of road set out in the Schedule below. The title of the proposed Orders and its proposed effects are also described in the said Schedule.

Whereby a proposal relates to Residents Only Parking Places, no more than 3 permits will be issued per property (one of which being a Visitor Permit) and the cost of such permits will be in accordance with the County Council of the City and County of Cardiff (On Street Parking Places) (Charges) Order 1999 which are for the time being:-

Application per Address per Financial year	Fee Charged per permit issued
1st	£5
Visitor	£5
2nd	£30

Full details of the proposals may be seen at the address below during normal office hours. Any objections you may have to the proposals must be submitted to me in writing by the 26th April 2013 and must contain the grounds on which you object. Any objections received may be made available to interested third parties.
